INTRODUCTION

GETTING READY FOR THE ADVENTURE TO BEGIN

Here we are in the first decade of the 21st century and I have to say that there's never been an evolutionary era like this one. The floodgates of possibility have opened and the dawn of a new civilisation is unfurling. Everything is evolving ... time, space, form, being, reality, reality creation, magic, power, intelligence, humanity, connection and consciousness to name just a few. We're dancing to a new vibrational tune here on this gorgeous planet Earth. We're the sparks of a new Life form, one that is intertwined and woven into the very fabric of our evolving planet and cosmos.

In this book, we're going on a conscious journey into our new becoming ... for the more conscious we can be of what we're up to, the more powerful the transformation will be. This book is both a chronicle of what has already happened and where we might take it from here. In preparation for reading it, I'd like to point to a few things that can make the journey more gracious and powerful for you:

1. What you're about to read is NOT the truth, for truth too is evolving from the polarity of good / bad, right / wrong, black / white into many possibilities of dimensional perspective, leaving us with the knowing that all truths are true depending on where you see them from. What you'll read here is a story ... a bio-myth if you will ... a living, legendary adventure into the evolution of the human race as we become something spectacularly new in this first decade of the 21st century on planet Earth in this solar cosmos.

2. I ask you to be willing to let go of beliefs as you journey, because belief too is evolving into a constant, rich unfolding of the next new possibility. Surrender anything that could keep you from opening up to the newest new to discover your own rich knowing of what's next for you and us.

3. Read this book with your fullest knowing intact. To do this, simply shift your focus from your head / brain / mind and allow your whole body to connect with the knowing fields that dance within you and around you. Think, listen, read and know with all of you. This way you'll know for sure what's right for you and for your own pathway as an evolutionary creator.

4. Once you're connected with the fields of vaster intelligence and knowing, then reach out to connect with all of us, the new collective that is sourcing this new evolutionary creation into being. It's from this collective field that you'll discover the rich fabric of evolution in its finest array.

5. This isn't written as a 'how to' manual. It's more of a chronicling of where we've come to so far and where we can go from here. So if you find yourself feeling challenged by any of it, perhaps falling asleep while you're reading it (a great way to absorb it all by the way) or confused by the language of it, just relax and tune in to see if it's right for you to continue reading at that moment. If you find you do want to learn the 'how to' of it, just get in touch with me at soleira@newvisionaries.net. We teach people how to operate in everyday life as evolutionary beings and in collective consciousness as evolutionary creators.

6. Don't just read these steps. Actually take a moment to try them on energetically and see how you feel having done that. Allow yourself to expand into the greatest you, ready to discover what is very likely the greatest evolutionary adventure of all times.

7. Enjoy the adventure! Don't let big concepts or new words confuse you. Simply dance in the vibrational opportunities they create. And smile throughout it, especially when you feel you don't understand something. It's always best not to take things too seriously. That too is part of our conscious evolution ... to have a great time while transforming the cosmos, the planet and ourselves into something spectacularly brand new!

And with all that in play, let the adventure begin!

THE EVOLUTION OF EVERYTHING ... THE ADVENTURE BEGINS

Who are we really? Why are we here?

These are questions that have plagued human beings for millennia, aeons even! As I was growing into an evolutionary being there were times that I thought those questions might never be answered. But I was wrong!

My own journey began when I discovered

- that energy is real and can be called, partnered and worked with on many levels,
- that possibilities are limitless and potential is always waiting a breath away to be made real,
- that time isn't linear; the past, present and future of all places exist right here in the now,
- that consciousness isn't something way out there, separate from and distant to us; it's a living force that surrounds and fills us,
- that Life is a gracious and wondrous unfolding of opportunities to evolve ourselves always and finally
- that I am not the small human being I thought I was and none of us are the ordinary human beings we've always considered ourselves to be!

This book is about the evolution of everything. It's about living every minute of every day as a vast, wondrous being of magnificence and contribution. Every single being has a unique contribution to gift to this evolutionary time and every one of us is magnificent beyond measure. The dance of this evolutionary era is to unfold that uniqueness and magnificence with grace and a new kind of transformative, alivening, evolutionary power.

But don't get me wrong ... it's not about becoming perfect or never making mistakes. Far from it! It's about being an adventurer, willing to explore new territory and use our imperfections and mistakes as jewels of becoming. It's about being willing to always bring a fresh, new, modern look at everything, as if you've never encountered it before and are studying it and playing with it with the glee of creation.

How did I find my way to becoming an evolutionist? It began by touching the world of energy, realising that there is much more here than meets our 3D eyes. I opened up my mind and my newly awakening senses to a whole new experience of Life as an energetic being. I touched consciousness and discovered a world of wonder and wisdom beyond imagining. I was trained by masters (my own vaster consciousness) in transformative time, space and form. I soared through past lives, my own and others, and began to see with a great sense of awe how and why we are all weaving together in this evolutionary era. I dove into alternative futures to see how we had gotten on with various big picture choices, like how androgyny and emotionless'ness had failed us in the end because both took away our passion for creation. I visited other galaxies and woke many a night with my head ringing with the song of stars. On the non-physical levels, I met with high councils (greater levels of ourselves) shaping the future of this world and gave them / us my input on how it was going and where to go from here. At one point, as more and more humans grew into real life, conscious, evolutionary beings, we challenged the so called 'powers that be' (again always another level of ourselves) with the view that we were ready, that human beings had evolved sufficiently to be able to steward their own conscious evolution and that the greatest evolutionary leap would be for us to do it by ourselves, without outside help or interference.

The Earth became a sovereign planet with the understanding that human beings would be responsible for stewarding their own leaps into the next levels of the evolutionary game. To do this, we had to take the step to recognise and own that we are beings who know exactly where we're going and why ... with the abilities, knowing and creativity to take us there with grace and ease. We begin to realise that every one of us has the capacity to be the whole of creation, evolving the very nature of collective creatorship as it has never been evolved before. We begin to operate as evolutionists, individually and collectively, in wondrous and magical new ways!

So let's dive in then and take a look at the evolution of everything ... how we've evolved things already and where we might take it from here.

THE EVOLUTION OF TIME, SPACE, FORM AND DIMENSIONALITY

Evolution isn't just about the slow ticking of the evolutionary clock, taking us step by step over millions of years to a slightly better way of being. In this time, in this world, we're experiencing quantum evolution ... the conscious ability to collectively create our own evolutionary leaps over a very short period of time ... a day, a month, a year and definitely mega leaps over a single decade. We're in unprecedented evolutionary territory, shaping transformative skills that will take us far beyond where we've ever been before.

One of our first conscious acts as evolutionary beings was to evolve beyond third dimensional reality. Over the first few years of this new millennium, we moved from 3D (third dimensional reality made up of time, space and form) to omni-dimensional reality (made up of limitless possibilities, frequencies and consciousnesses). We began this by evolving our relationship to each of the three dimensions ... time, space and form.

THE EVOLUTION OF TIME

For the dimension of time, we are learning to live more and more in the powerful presence of NOW, gaining mastery with time as we learn to play with it as a malleable creation for evolutionary potential:

- We're able to expand as well as slow time more and more at will.
- We understand that the past is a wealthy storehouse of collective knowledge, wisdom, experience and learning that can be integrated graciously and fully into the present.

- We're moving beyond the concepts of karma and past lives, realising that these are simply aspects of us that we can integrate to become whole, complete beings here now.
- We're shifting from a man-made linear construct of time (past, present and future in a linear stream) to an all-time-now construct in which past, present and future are all occurring in the swirling moment of NOW.
- For some of us who've been engaged in past life work, we've realised that not only can you alter and transform the past, but in doing so, you're instantly evolving everyone who's been touched by it in the millennia since.
- We've evo-linked our evolutionary creations in the present to the million year future to flip these shifts back in their future evolved state to this ever-evolving now.

Time no longer has us captured in its web. It's no longer occurring like a myriad of structure and complexity that contains us. We're beginning to realise that we create time and that we can evolve time in the most simplistic and amazing of ways.

THE EVOLUTION OF SPACE

For the dimension of space, we began to see it not as empty and meaningless, but as full, rich and alive with potentiality. As energetic beings, we've learned to:

Hold space – using our own personal energy field to ensure that the energy of a group or place will move graciously into its desired outcome,

Create space – calling the energy of creation into a space to ensure creativity and collaboration for delightful movement towards group potential and

Source space – partnering with vibrant Life source energies to empower a super-charged, alivening, transformative space in which evolutionary potential and transformative breakthroughs happen naturally and easily.

We reached through what quantum physicists call the zero point field (the barrier between this world and other dimensions) to pull limitless energy, potential and possibility through into this reality. We opened up the doorways between this world and the totality of Life everywhere, calling omni-dimensionality ... all consciousnesses and planes of existence ... into the fabric of the space around us and within us. We brought this new space alive and gave it sentient presence so that we could live within it as collective, omni-dimensional beings.

We've called vibrant Life source energies present to transform the lower vibrational space of our man-made world. Solar flares and cosmic energies have also been flooding us, playing a key role in amping up this world's vibrational frequency to take us into a whole new dimensionality of space and form.

THE EVOLUTION OF FORM

For the dimension of form, we've been upgrading our vibrational frequency, altering and expanding the capacity of our DNA and cells to hold more and more high vibrational resonance with Life's energetics. We have access to the alivening, rejuvenating energies that can create a much longer and even eternal Life.

We're discovering that as we think and believe something, so it is! So we enrich our thoughts and beliefs about form and aging to a whole new vantage point, one in which we are the creators of and sources for our own physicality and well-being. Many people are already beginning to stop going to doctors for medicine or to healers to be made well. We're discovering that each of us has the capacity to source our own well-being and that the physical body is a wondrous, malleable template ... a centre-point for new possibilities of being and a dwelling place for the magical, omni-dimensional, super-charged, living consciousness of a new us.

OMNI-DIMENSIONALITY

Time, space and form ... we're gaining new mastery over all three of these variations on dimensionality. I believe that we've gone past the 4th, 5th, 6th, 7th or any numbered dimensions that many of the spiritual traditions would indicate for this time. We've moved right through these dimensions by incorporating and integrating them as follows:

- The 4th dimension - our own higher aspects of self.
- The 5th dimension - a level of creativity and invention brought fully into play in a liberated collective consciousness.
- The 6th dimension – an added level of higher 'beyond self' consciousness, orienting us to galactic life.
- The 7th dimension – the deep, eternal inner, weaving in a sourceful purity of Life and connecting us with the very source of Life itself.

To attain omni-dimensionality we simply integrated all of these and then opened up the doorways to all consciousnesses, wisdoms, knowledge, potentials, possibilities and vibrational frequencies to bring them present and available in the here and now. This move to omni-dimensionality has given us the new-found creational tools of transformative perception (as we choose to perceive something, so it is) and reality creation (we think something now and it happens immediately). This is because we've co-created a collective, transformative field that responds to creational thought.

In the last century, we were trapped in a polarised version of 3D ... individualised, separated and blocked off from all that is magical and possible. Today we're collectively living in an omni-dimensional field of living consciousness that offers us tremendous breakthroughs for evolutionary living in the 21st century.

THE EVOLUTION OF CONSCIOUSNESS

What is consciousness? For me, consciousness is comprised of multiple fields of knowledge, wisdom, beliefs, experiences, knowing and more. If you're someone who travels the realms of consciousness, then you'll have noticed a mega shift in these fields over the past decade. Ten years ago we had to work really hard and go a long way out to touch consciousnesses other than our own. Our world was wrapped up in a ball of low vibrational energetics that often made the journey into higher consciousness challenging and time consuming. We used to have to meditate on mountains and in clear spaces, away from the chaotic energies of the world at large, in order to be able to push through the barriers between this world and other dimensions and consciousness.

Today, all that has changed. The first step in our evolution of consciousness was bringing all consciousnesses present and available here and now in the space around us and within us. To access any of these consciousnesses now, we simply intend it, reach to it and whoosh, it's right there easily accessible to us. This step was a conscious process of taking down the barrier between worlds and of reaching through what quantum physicists call the zero point field to pull through omnidimensionality, all consciousness and limitless energy, potential and possibilities.

There are some people who believe that there is only one consciousness and I suppose if you go to the biggest, inconceivable, expansive place, you might find that to be true. But the joy in it all is to experience the diverse, wondrous and unique consciousnesses that are available for us all to experience now. I would say there are zillions of consciousnesses for different races, times, cultures, planets, cosmoses, star systems and beyond. To shape it all into one pot seems to me to defeat its brilliant purpose of gifting us innumerable ways of being with it all.

The next step in the evolution of consciousness was to bring all these consciousnesses together while at the same time retaining their unique flavours and distinctions. To accomplish this, we brought the new field of consciousness sentiently alive, so that it was aware of its diversity and at the time was the sum totality of its parts.

In the past consciousness tended to occur like a memory imprint that would plant itself in the fabric of space, like a library, warehouse or storage place for distinct ways of beings, beliefs, learning, cultures, etc. But now in the 21st century, we've given birth to and are in the process of discovering a brilliant relationship to a new kind of consciousness that contains living memory, alivening possibilities, transformative nature, Life spark, cosmic adventure and much, much more! This new field of consciousness is sentient, alive and aware. Today, we simply reach into, connect with and become this new consciousness and whoosh there it is, all the wisdom, knowledge and ability of all consciousness everywhere. We've created a living presence of all the places, times, sources, etc. of how evolution can occur ... a living reference and guidance system for us to design, implement and live into for an unprecedented evolutionary leap here on planet Earth. We've created a brand new, collective, living intelligence that is accessible by and available to us all.

THE EVOLUTION OF INTELLIGENCE

This living consciousness is available to everyone and all it takes to access it is to move your energy and focus from the mind (brain / head) only to connect with your whole being to the living intelligence around and within us all. The living consciousness is a sentient awareness of and a storehouse for all knowledge, knowing and wisdom that is there to guide us in these new evolutionary times. You could call this the evolution of mind, in that we no longer have to think as isolated individuals with only the limited memory capacity of our brains. We can now free think in hyper-speed with the living intelligence of an evolving cosmos. This might sound impossible to some and daunting to others, but to many people on the planet today, this is a natural and every day way of thinking, learning and creating now ... and perhaps our natural birthright was always to free think with the mega brain capacity of Life itself.

Connecting with this vaster intelligence offers us new and evolving abilities:

Telepathy is energetic communication transmitted and received on a wide range of frequencies, from person to person as well as in generative collective consciousness. The communication tends to occur as streaming, hyper-speed knowing, seeing and sensing, translated or heard with your whole being as opposed to your ears and mind

Innate sensing is the ability to sense what's going on in, and what wants to happen through, the energetic fields of potentiality. This is the evolution of empathy, moving from an ultra-sensitivity to the lower ranges of frequency (pain, suffering, etc.) to a strong ability to distinguish potential, move energy and create breakthroughs in the higher frequencies of potentiality.

Knowing is more than just the ability to download multiple levels of conscious understanding. It's like entering a zone of full consciousness in which you're gifted seeing, sensing and knowing in an enhanced fashion. In this zone or state, you also have the conscious ability to perceive and operate in transformative ways. This is the evolution of intuition that tends to be more like a 'gut feel' without a conscious understanding of the why and how of it. Intuition can leave you moving on trust or faith, while knowing puts you completely in the zone of being the one who can turn things out.

Hyper-speed thinking is the ability of our conscious, thinking minds to operate outside time constraints. In this state, we're able to access streaming downloads of new data in very high speed and have the ability to translate that instantly, without thought, into transformative interpretation and creative solutions.

Omni-dimensional broadband scanning is the ability to consciously scan multiple frequency ranges for omni-dimensional perspectives and big picture understanding, lifting us beyond standard human awareness into transformative and evolutionary design.

These abilities gift us with:

- free thinking beyond known thought,
- access to a far greater range of understanding,
- the use of conscious perception as a transformative tool and
- a strong and clear knowing of what's right for us to do next by orienting to what Life wants now.

What this offers for our learning environments in the years to come will be stunning to behold. How can we test memory when anyone can access any time, any memory and any perspective and bring it consciously present? How can we orient our education systems to a mind only approach when we've already moved into collective, mega-mind capacity? How can we continue to orient teaching to the 'norm' when every child is uniquely amazing and operating at all different frequencies and speeds?

In addition to a growing number of adults, many children today are already working with these new and evolving abilities. They're born telepathic and are taking this skill with them into the classrooms, communicating telepathically between classrooms and around the world. Many of these kids naturally operate in hyper-speed (look at the rise in Attention Deficit Hyper-Speed Disorder - ADHD) and are bored witless with the slow speed of the current educational model. How can we perceive ADD and ADHD as disorders and drug those we label with it, when in fact this is the evolution of us all? It's time to open up the learning models to a whole new mode of intelligence and ability, one that takes into account a new found relationship with our evolving, sentient, living intelligence.

THE EVOLUTION OF GENIUS

One of the things that this new, living intelligence is offering us is the evolution of genius. I don't mean only genius as defined by mind intelligence and measured by IQ. I also mean creative genius ... the capacity of everyone to reach into our new living consciousness, into Life's thriving potential pool, and pull out genius potential easily and powerfully.

Genius is being evolved and redesigned from the perspective of every person having their own unique magnificence coupled with a zillion possibilities of creation. The outcome of connecting our unique magnificence with Life's streaming potential in a living field of collective consciousness is a new kind of genius that's available to all. It is showing up more obviously in children today because they're being born as a natural part of this new field and they don't have old habits or beliefs to break in regards to it.

Children born in the last 12 years (1995 to 2007) are showing up in greater and greater numbers with this new genius potential. We could call them child prodigies, but with the increase in their numbers and visibility, we just might have to start calling this new version of us the genius generation!

Some of them can hear music and then play it like a pro instantly. Others have a similar facility with technology. You can sit them down at a computer or with a new electronic gizmo and they've got it sussed immediately. Others are painting and singing like they've done it forever. They have mega voices and mega talents along with an incredible passion for what they do. The more they love what they do, the more talented they are at it. And from what I've seen of these new kids on television and YouTube, they delight in performing and are naturally great at it.

But I have to say that it's not just children that this new genius is touching. Adults have it available to them as well by connecting with the new living consciousness. It just takes a conscious effort to move from 'mind thinking' to the streaming wonder of energetic knowing and transformative being.

Take me as an example ... I love writing and all it takes for me to access an amazing flow of writing is to connect to the new living consciousness. From there the words just stream through me onto the page. I can write a book in three weeks. I don't have to think about it or plan for it. I just dive into the energy of the potential of what wants to be written and some brilliant works pour on through. Yes it is coming from me ... and it's bigger than me somehow. It's what wants to be written, sung, painted, etc. If you take J. K. Rowling's Harry Potter series as another example, you'll find that the whole concept of the series came to her as a complete download on the train one day. Harry Potter wanted to be written and was waiting for a potential genius to bring it through. This is the way new genius potential works. We bring our unique, passionate flavour, experience and desire to the partnership and the living consciousness brings the genius potential to us to be realised.

Every single person has magnificent contribution inside of them just waiting to be liberated. We're moving into a time when one of our collective, evolutionary goals will be the liberation and celebration of every single person's unique, creative, magnificent genius. What kind of a global society will we have in the 21st century when everyone is empowered to express their fullest genius contribution in a billion creative ways?!!!

THE EVOLUTION OF BEING

In order to fulfil this vision of a global society of unique, creative, genius beings, we're evolving not only our connection to living intelligence, but also ourselves as a new race of beings. We are revolutionising ourselves right to the core and in a variety of wondrous ways. Over the past decade alone, we've integrated:

- our own higher selves,
- omni-dimensional aspects of ourselves and other consciousnesses,
- the deep eternal levels of pure being as well as
- levels of resonant sourcedness, creatorship and godness.

In the 21st century, we're experiencing a constant state of evolutionary becoming, both individually and collectively. From an individual perspective, there are times when it's challenging for the physical body to keep up as we integrate new vibrational frequencies and DNA and cellular adaptation. You'll know if this has been happening to you if you've been sleeping longer at night and / or falling asleep during the day with some regularity. You may also experience being a buzz with energy sometimes, including the possibility of headaches, dizziness and nausea. But once each of these new integrations is complete, we tend to feel wonderfully alive and very connected in a brand new way. It is, in the long run, an amazing, evolutionary shift that we're privileged to be a part of.

As a race of beings, we're exploring collective evolution, stepping beyond a solely individualistic view of Life, into a vast vista of possibilities of being, integrating these new levels of consciousness within ourselves so that we can grow in incredible leaps over days, weeks and months, rather than over lifetimes of step-by-step learning and slow growth.

In the last decade we've been evolving through levels of being:

Whole self – fully and vibrantly open, operating completely aligned with your truest sense of self

Higher self -- the greater aspects of yourself through time and space

Creational being -- the ability and the freedom to invent ourselves as anything we choose to be

Beyond self -- operating in an expanded capacity without any attention on self at all and powerfully focused on our collective becoming

Mega being -- a vaster sense of being, having integrated higher, deeper and cosmic aspects, with a strong sense of purpose related to the evolutionary game and with the transformative abilities to fulfil that role

Life being -- a level of collective godness'ing, where we're truly learning to operate collectively as Life evolving the very nature and source of itself; perspective in this level tends to occur more omni-cosmically

Along with each of these new levels of being come amazing new perspectives, understanding, abilities and possibilities beyond compare! Each one is a leap beyond the one before ... and to think that we're moving through all of these in a single decade, the first of the 21st century!

For me, the word 'being' used to imply a passive state, indicative of a restful, peaceful, enjoyable way of being. But now, as we evolve the very nature of being, we're discovering new states of transformative being, creational being and more. When we expand into our full being today, we have the energy, the capacity, the strength, the wisdom and the knowing to make magic with Life everywhere we go. We're no longer small human beings trapped on a planet and set on a path towards destruction. Today, we're magnificent beings of incredible wisdom and knowledge who are birthing a brand new way of being for Life everywhere!

THE EVOLUTION OF CONNECTION

Along with these new states of being has come new abilities to connect, with resulting shifts in collective orientation:

Whole self – the ability to connect with others as whole being to whole being, opening ourselves up to one another on a truer and deeper level

Higher self – the ability to connect with one another as greater beings with higher purpose; this energetic connection is generally made higher chakras to higher chakras

Creational being – diving into pure creational space with great passion and excitement to see what's possible to invent together from here; energetically you become the field of creation and dive in to play together

Beyond self – a powerful ability to source evolutionary movement together in collective consciousness; energetically you move beyond the sense of your own being to become the living field of consciousness and potential moving itself into play

Mega being – exploring an altogether new kind of collective beingness, one in which everything is available to everyone, any being able to step into the whole of it to operate for the mega benefit for us all

Life being – where we discover ourselves as true creators of all that can be, the totality of Life living itself alive through physical and cosmic expression in a new evolutionary way; when Life meets Life at this level, there's an ecstatic, generative spark that happens

These levels are challenging to distinguish and describe because it's more about the energetic feel of the connection, oftentimes beyond what words can aptly describe. But know that there is power in these differing states of connectivity and that they hold the keys to our evolutionary potential from here.

One of the most powerful aspects of our conscious evolution is our ability to super connect with others, the Earth, the cosmos and Life. Super connection occurs as an ecstatic relationship with everything, putting a great big smile on your face and calling exhilarating energy through you. Super connection is less about reaching from you to something or someone else and more about uniquely becoming the totality of our aliveness, transformative, magical, connective field. Super connection is about owning that we are each a source creator within this newly formed consciousness field, learning to operate as conscious, collective creators for that field's enrichment and growth.

We aren't just becoming ONE with all consciousness and with everything, as many spiritual practices would have us pursue. Instead it's about expressing our own UNIQUE contribution to the evolution of living consciousness. In becoming ONE, we can tend to lose ourselves as well as our energetic momentum. In becoming UNIQUELY the totality of Life's living consciousness, we generate our own very special and magical contribution to the whole as well as liberate the movement forward for us all. If you're not certain about this, just try it and see. Become one with all things and see what happens energetically for you. Most people report a sense of peace and stillness. Next take on uniquely being the totality of Life's living consciousness and see what happens then. Most people report a greater sense of expansion and an exhilarating rush of energy, moving them towards a fulfilling sense of contribution to the whole. For you, how are these two different and which one offers you and us the greatest evolutionary potential now?

I've worked with thousands of individuals around the world and I've yet to meet anyone who doesn't have amazing gems of potential lying within them waiting to be gifted to us in this amazing time. We all need to step fully into this now and own our part in the evolutionary game. We're more than just individual human beings living another ordinary life on planet Earth. We're omni-dimensional beings ready to co-create a mega shift for all of Life everywhere. We can do this now. We simply need to let go of our view of ourselves as small human beings and step into the wondrous becoming that is already underway. It's here that the resulting kaleidoscopic creation (with every unique contribution being honoured and gifted) offers us a world beyond imagining and a love of Life that will fill us with incredible richness, connection and abundance for all.

THE EVOLUTION OF POTENTIAL

As we learn to live as connected beings, we naturally orient away from a view of Life as a series of problems to perceive Life as never ending potential offering its transformative hands out to us. Life no longer just happens willy-nilly to us. We become the source of Life's potential coming alive and real in today's world, learning how to manage this in an energetically transformative way. We can reach into the depths of Life's oceans of potential and call new possibilities present, discovering the magical skill of making the unmanifest real.

In order to accomplish this shift from problem to potential, we've had to make some significant shifts in how we operate:

- We're learning to see a far greater picture than an individualistic view can offer. We begin to see things in terms of the world as a whole and our evolving place in the cosmoses.
- We're moving beyond small human beings with problems to solve to become evolutionary adventurers soaring the seas of potential!
- We're discovering that we can stop orienting to ourselves psychologically and historically and are beginning to live completely present in the now, viewing ourselves as evolutionary beings on the greatest adventure of all times.
- We see emotion not as something to be stuffed down or managed, but as vibrant fuel for the creation of our passions and visions ... emotion as potential rising ... fear as the tip of leadership, anger as the tip of passion, frustration as the indicator for a next leap, etc.

- We partner, not with a downtrodden and suffering Earth that needs our healing, but with a magnificent planetary being in all its glorious sentience.
- We co-create new consciousness that has every single being awakened to a brand new sense of themselves, our world and Life ... one that is connected, alivening, transformative, co-creative and exhilarating beyond compare.

I believe that connection to Life is the answer to everything we seek. Want to end wars? Empower a collective connection to Life. People who are ultra connected with Life can't be harmful to anyone or anything. In the connection is an inherent respect for and honouring of the beauty in everything. From here, we naturally orient to the unique evolutionary potential that each being or situation can offer us all.

As we re-orient to potential from the place of connection, we're discovering various levels of potential to play with and empower:

Personal potential – the potential that you're born with for you to be more of who you can be; generally this potential is personally focused and you do it for you

Greater potential – the potential that's available when we reach higher, beyond our own personal desires and gains, to make a difference for others

World-changing potential – the potential that's available for visionaries who delight in taking on big, world shifting projects with passion, creativity and leaderful collaboration

Evolutionary potential – Life's vast oceans of potentiality waiting to be gifted to those who are ready to powerfully contribute to Life everywhere

For those of us who've been at work on the evolutionary path for some years now, we're discovering that people don't have to step through these levels one by one. Instead, we're discovering an incredible transformative ability to awaken someone into their full evolutionary potential simply by witnessing who they really are within the field of living consciousness. Seeing them for who they really are creates the transformative space for them to immediately become Life's wondrous potential now.

THE EVOLUTION OF EMOTION

Since we're orienting everything to potential rather than problem, it makes perfect sense to evolve our relationship to emotion as potential as well. Emotion is energy in motion ... e-motion. Working with emotion as energy rather than problem or issue gives us much more powerful outcomes than emotional processing and clearing.

The western world turned itself towards psychology as a basis for growth throughout the last few decades of the 20th century. This was good at the time as it allowed us to become more in touch with and responsible for our emotions. Rather than suppressing them or blasting them everywhere, we worked to find the childhood origin of the distress to hopefully resolve it once and for all. This did result in a greater sense of responsibility for our emotions, which in turn led to a movement into wholeness. But for people who bought into the psychological perspective as the panacea for all, it left them processing the same things over and over again as issues, blocks and problems. In many cases, the energy kept coming back. Why? Because its potential hadn't been received! Today, emotional processing and psychological perspective is getting in the way of evolutionary movement because it orients us to small human beings with problems to solve rather than amazing beings fuelled with energy for passion, potential, vision, vitality and contribution.

Processing emotion as problem and clearing or releasing it can actually remove the potential and the energy to fulfil it. So we created a new view of emotion as the energy of potential rising:
Fear as the tip of leadership – We're afraid because something big is calling us.
Anger as the tip of passion – We're passionately stirred up because we care so deeply about something.

Emotion is our smart body's way of communicating to us that energy is moving ... and since potential is energy, then all we need to do is get into relationship with the energy and bring it on through. Rather than suppressing, clearing or releasing the energy, we breathe it up, call it through us and get into relationship with it as our next level of potential and contribution. Once you've brought the energy of the potential through and placed it in front of you, tune into it, ask what its potential is and then consciously choose whether you want to take on that potential or not. Once you've chosen (assuming it's a yes), then step into the energy of it and take it on in every cell of you. This creates a transformative shift of the energy into the power of this potential strumming through you, ready to do its work. Try it on the next time you feel an emotion bubbling up. You'll be amazed at the power of this simple re-orientation from small person with problems to solve to amazing being with potential to fulfil.

The evolution of emotion is critical to our conscious evolution. Why? Because we can't continue as a race being run by our rampant emotions, but neither can we become emotionless as we need the energy of our emotions for creativity, drive and forward motion. So we've invented a brand new relationship with emotion that brings it into alignment with our conscious evolution.

We're re-orienting to a more collective, evolutionary way of being, so if you wake up one day and find yourself edgy, angry, frustrated, fearful or even joyful to the nth degree, consider that this might not be personal emotion you're experiencing. Given our move to collective connection, it just may be an evolutionary shift moving through and this is your smart body's way of calling you into the game. Once you've attuned yourself to a bigger view of it all, you can bring the energy of the potential through into consciousness as a contribution for all.

THE EVOLUTION OF COMMUNICATION AND LANGUAGE

One of the greatest problems our world faces is the inability to hear what others are really saying. Most arguments, upsets and conflicts are based on a misunderstanding of what is actually being communicated. We tend to hear through the filters of our own history, emotional responses, pre-set ideas, etc. I believe this is because, in the past century, we were shut off from true connection with one another in our individual energy fields.

But it's not just listening that's the problem. We all know how challenging it can be to find the right words for what we really want to say ... or even to understand ourselves what it is we're trying to communicate!

The good news is that today communication is evolving and occurs very differently for those who've stepped beyond the small, closed up self to discover wholeness and beyond. People who are vibrantly open and wonderfully connected are able to communicate via the energetic fields that pulse between them. I call this telepathy or energetic communication.

When we're connected energetically, we can communicate with or without words. Many energetically open people say that they prefer to do it without words as the power for them is in the energy. For me, I'm passionate about the power of language and love to combine the words with the energy for additional oomph, but more about that shortly!

One to one energetic communication occurs like a broadband stream of energy running between you and the person you're communicating with. We pulse the communication from the whole of our being, rather than from our minds. We dance in the field of living consciousness to facilitate our ability to communicate deeply and richly. Trying to communicate with our minds, mouths and ears only is a challenging task. But communicating with the whole of your being through the living field is a delight to participate in.

Communicating energetically with the whole of your being can only be true, genuine and authentic on every level. What gets communicated is the very essence of what you're wanting to say (your personal intention for the communication) as well as what really wants to be said (the true potential of the communication). Let me show you what I mean:

Mind to mouth communication – Our brains tend to fuddle up what we're trying to say with old thoughts and pre-conceptions of how this might be heard. It tries to apply past concepts to present speech and as a result makes it near impossible to hear. And that doesn't even take into account the filters it's being heard through by the ears and mind of the other(s).

Whole being to whole being communication – The essence of what you're wanting to say comes from deep within you. The energy of it pulses up and through as a whole communication, fresh and fully present in the moment. It translates across the frequency wave bands between you and is received in whole form in the energy with which it was sent. It's received like a download and unfolded into the receiver's whole being to be accurately understood, not only on a word level, but on a feeling level as well. This enriches the communication wondrously and is probably the way communication was always meant to be.

Being a voice for what wants to be spoken – At this level of communication, we've moved way beyond self in any form and are now available for the purest, deepest, greatest, richest communication to come through us to be delivered physically to those present as well as in consciousness for all. This is

'collective to collective' communication and the power of it is awesome to be a part of, whether you're the speaker or the listener. The speaker is building a resonant field with his/her words and energy, and is inviting the listeners to participate in generating and enhancing that field with their own energy and passionate feelings related to it. Together they're building a breakthrough movement that's available for all.

That brings us nicely back to the power of language, one of my passionate specialities. All too often, people speak energyless, empty words that tend to sound like 'blah, blah, blah' without any meaning. In these cases, we might find it hard to hear what's actually being said.

But when you speak what wants to be said from the power of its potential to move everything forward now, the energy of the words operates like a musical frequency range that uplifts the listeners and connects them with the potential of the breakthrough. It's as if the energetic resonance of the words touches something deep within them, calling forth their own connection to the power of this new potential coming through.

Having experienced the power of this many times, I now believe wholeheartedly that language is a magical tool that can transform Life all around us. We're bringing the power of transformative listening and speaking into our modern day world, evolving the power of communication to brand new heights using the collective fields.

THE EVOLUTION OF PHYSICALITY, WELL-BEING AND AGING

Operating as vibrant, whole beings connected with the source power of Life moves us into a whole new domain related to our physical bodies, well-being and aging. Those of us already working in these fields are discovering the ability to source our physicality and well-being. It doesn't mean we don't get ill sometimes. It means that if and when we do, we have a completely different relationship to it.

If we're ill, it's because our smart bodies are trying to communicate something to us OR it's because we're going through an evolutionary shift or upgrade. The integration of new vibrational frequencies can often occur like a low-grade illness, leaving us fatigued and / or with the immune system somewhat reduced. But the more we get used to operating in these new frequency levels, the less it has that effect upon us and the more we're able to source a complete sense of well-being.

We consciously run the Life source energies, from the deep eternal inner, through ourselves on a daily basis to keep ourselves energised and rejuvenated.

We realise that we are energetic beings first and foremost and that it's energy that sources our Life force, which upgrades the immune system and leaves us feeling vibrantly alive and well.

We recognise that aging is simply a belief and the more we believe in it and buy into age-old adages around it, the more the body responds to the message commands and tones down. Believing that aging is in our own charge, we can use the Life source energy to regenerate our cells, upgrade our immune system, put to perfection anything out of whack and generally remain more youthful for a much longer, if not immeasurable amount of time. My husband, Santari, is at work on sourcing physicality in such a way that immortality is available to us ... and I believe that if anyone can do this, it's my amazing, evolutionary husband!

We are working with the cells of the body in a new way that takes the process of healing to a whole new level. Healing generally implies the ability to fix something that is wrong, to put it back to the way it was as best we can. We are moving beyond healing into a space where we can be with the perfection of every cell and call it into its most perfected state (even better than it was previously) in the now moment. For example with cuts, I have the ability to go inside my cells and direct the flow of energy and intention such that I can actually watch the skin beginning to remake itself in a matter of minutes. Santari has the ability to take something that's out of whack and put it into full alignment with its newest perfected state. For example, I had a problem three years ago where the knee joint had a small sliver of bone that was piercing me occasionally. He worked with it once and it was completely gone, not only from my conscious awareness, but from my physical experience as well.

In our conscious evolution, we are beginning to master the world of physicality and all that it entails. We are fast approaching the day when we will be able to choose how we look, how well we feel, how long we live and how we partner with our very smart and wonderful bodies to create a being of extraordinary possibilities. We are already well on the way to this now ... and there is a lot more yet to come!

THE EVOLUTION OF REALITY

What will our world look like when we're completely attuned to working with the energy of potential, the clarity of emotion, the true power of communication and the ability to rejuvenate ourselves wondrously? For those of us already working in this way, these evolutionary breakthroughs offer us the delightful, collaborative experience of co-creating collective reality for us all. We've already moved beyond 'I create my own reality' to collectively creating vibrant, abundant, sourceful reality for all.

How have we evolved reality in the last ten years? I see it in terms of paradigm shifts:

3D reality – 3rd dimensional reality (time, space, form) in Western culture is individually oriented, mind focused, limited in possibility and psychologically focused on problems and conflict. Vibrational frequency tends to be low and dense with people generally more concerned with money and material success.

Spiritual reality – In this paradigm, people are seeking for answers to the bigger questions of Life. They're looking to touch the mysterious and the mystical to try to better understand how they fit into it all. They're 'touching the hem of the garment' so to speak, meaning that they don't yet see themselves as powerful and are looking to find the source of a greater power outside themselves. The focus here tends to be on love, peace and compassion as well as the greater quest. Vibrational frequency is higher and softer, which is lovely, but oftentimes missing that sense of power and movement that evolution requires.

Creational reality – This is the paradigm where new visionaries play. Everything in this reality is open for creation. Nothing is done automatically because it's always been that way. Here people invent new businesses, new products and services, new ways of living, new relationships, new everything! The vibrational frequency is exciting, dynamic and vibrant. There's a buzz going on at this level of reality and it's so exciting to operate in this way. Here people become leaderful and visionary. We work easily and naturally in collaboration with resonant others and connect with potential, vision, passion and creation in everything we do. Constant creation and change become a way of Life, not just an exercise in getting something to turn out.

Transformative, evolutionary reality -- This is where we step beyond individuality and begin to truly work as a collective. We discover the wondrous power of working transformatively in the fields of consciousness. We're no longer touching the hem of the garment. We are discovering the true power of Life in its fullest. We're able to make amazing shifts and bring huge potentials through into reality with greater and greater ease. We see with fresh eyes the far greater picture and game. We know that we are here in the most incredible time with the possibility of shifting everything everywhere into brand new levels of being! We become evolutionists and revel in the dance of all that's possible next and now! The vibrational frequency at this level of reality is exhilarating and oftentimes ecstatic with pulsing energy rolling through us for the next conscious, evolutionary shifts.

We're already at work this year (2007) on the next level of reality beyond this one. We call it the godness game and are just in the process of unfolding the delights in this vibrational reality.

The key to evolving realities is vibrational frequency ... the higher the frequency, the more exhilarated the state and the richer the potential. With this understanding, we are learning to master the art of magical reality creation for all.

THE EVOLUTION OF MAGICAL REALITY CREATION

We are learning to work collectively in a greater game with limitless possibilities, pure creational energy and abundant potential. We operate deeply connected with Life, working for a vast sense of purpose and vision. We step beyond individual reality creation ('I create my own reality') into a wondrous new ability to collectively source magical reality creation for all. In the past decade alone, we've moved through:

Manifestation – using our own personal energy and techniques like affirmations (repeating the intention over and over again) to take an idea, dream or vision and make it real for ourselves.

Individual reality creation – discovering that each of us can create our own reality, generally for learning and growth purposes, and taking responsibility for that in a more adult way.

The universe will provide – here we discover a greater force at play and learn to trust in its synchronicity and synergy to make magic happen for us. This relationship is wonderful and requires a complete trust of surrendering to a greater force or consciousness.

The law of attraction – here we begin to claim back our power of creation by connecting with greater purpose and potential and using our emotional energy to call these into reality. We literally attract or call to us that which is ours to desire and make real.

Sourcing magical reality creation – this form of creation can only be done in and for collective energetics. It requires a partnership with our new living consciousness that's made up of Life source energy and transformative, creational energy.

It's about partnering the energy of what Life wants next and now in order to create a magical reality for all.

Quantum super-flux field generator – This is the very latest creation in the newest collective levels of being. Here we become the totality of consciousness as a collective mind and learn the art of field generation or consciousness creation. We discover Life in the zest lanes living as the powerfully sentient, alivening and always evolving fields of consciousness.

In these last few levels, we discover a new kind of magic, one that sources from the very essence of Life and works for brilliant possibilities for all. Built into this new magical power and ability is our super connection with Life, so that if anyone tries to use this energy for something not empowering to Life, the energy withdraws and the person is left without access to the field in which the magical creation occurs. We consciously designed a secret doorway into magical reality creation and that doorway is accessed through a brilliant, ecstatic, exhilarating relationship with the whole of Life. Without that, one cannot use this field for conscious creation ... it's an inbuilt check and balance for the wondrous use of magical, creational Life power.

And that, of course, leads us into a wondrous look at the evolution of power!

THE EVOLUTION OF POWER

In the past century, power has become a negative word associated with wielding power over others. But we've been at work on evolving power in the past decade, so that today anyone who's open, connected and willing to work for the greater potential of us all can experience at least 5 new levels of delightful, amazing, wondrous power:

Creational power – the ability to create ourselves as anything we want to be and to create the reality around us in vibrant, dynamic, new ways. This power accesses the energy of creation from deep within to fuel its movement. It leaves the user in an amazing, ultra-creative state where new ideas pop through with great frequency and passion. It's like riding a wave that's powering on through. Most people who experience creational power find it hard to sleep at night because they have so much energy and so many ideas they want to move on.

Magical power – the ability to make magical things happen with great delight. It's about synergy, synchronicity and sparkle, using the energy of vibrant, vibrational reality to bring the magic of Life alive. There is an other-worldliness to this power, requiring a great delight in Life to sparkle it into play. It feels more like sparkles coming off your fingertips and toes as you dance with the possibilities on offer with this delicious, delightful power.

Transformative power – the ability to take anything from where it is instantly into much more of what it can be. This power is about being able to source leaps of being from one level of ourselves to another using the energy of our collective, living consciousness field for amperage and leverage. This power feels more substantive and requires that you become the collective field in order to power the movement of potential through for others and all.

The power of ALL – the ability to become ALL ... the Earth, the cosmoses, the stars, the force of everything in motion in the biggest and most wondrous way. This isn't about becoming one with everything. If you try that, you'll find there's very little movement in that state. Instead become the possibility of everything moving into its brilliant ALL'ness and discover a profoundly wondrous power of seeing, knowing and being much more than we've ever been before!

Life source power – the ability to reach into the deep eternal inner to touch the very source of Life itself. This is the energy that makes the grass grow and the birds sing. It puts the rainbows in the sky and lights up the night skies with sparkling stars that take our breath away. You can call this energy through you and gift it to Life everywhere in all its forms. You partner with Life to evolve Life itself and you dance the dance of brilliance into motion.

We're at work all the time on the next levels of evolving power as we learn to expand our energies further and deeper and as we touch rich, new levels of our collective being and of the very fabric of Life itself on its evolutionary path.

THE EVOLUTION OF LIFE

When I write about Life with a capital L, it's because I hold Life as a sentient potentiality waiting for us to partner it into conscious mega creation. For me, Life is ...

- the very source of our being,
- the core of our rich connection to everything,
- the generative space of creative sparking,
- a potentiality of brilliance beyond imagining,
- the wondrous force that brightens the stars and alivens the worlds across all the cosmoses.

Life is always wanting to become more than it already is. It waits for us to draw it into our versions of living reality, to brighten, enlighten, aliven and evolve everything. Together in partnership with Life, we create the dance that illuminates everything into more and more of its amazing potentiality.

Life is always available to us and we can choose how much of that tap we want turned on or off at any point in time for our own personal life force. Life is always available as Nature, and certainly left on her own, Nature can produce an ambience of virulent, vibrant Life that surmounts the senses and leaves one in awe of its glorious beauty.

But I'm talking about a relationship beyond even that. I'm talking about a symbiotic partnership with all of us and Life in its fullest to fulfil something outside our current ken of understanding. Any known design of collective consciousness is insufficient to the evolutionary cause to create what we, and Life, require now. We must partner the evolution of our race with the evolution of source, creator and Life itself.

THE EVOLUTION OF DEATH

No exploration of the evolution of everything would be complete without looking into the evolution of Life and death. For the past fifteen years, I've been easily able to connect with people who've transitioned to the other side. It's easy ... you simply attune yourself to that frequency and connect.

Fifteen years ago, most of the people I connected with there were either lost and confused or had moved on rapidly without any further sign (most likely having moved into a healing stasis and / or life review to complete this lifetime). Ten years ago, I found their transitions to be easing, with people able to move more readily and naturally 'through the tunnel to the light' to be met by loved ones who'd already passed over. During that period, I sensed that they could see what was happening with their families here, but they seemed to have minimal ability to interact in helpful ways with them. I postulated that this shift was because of our own growing understanding of life after death. After all, what we believe creates our reality. So fifteen years ago if people didn't know how to perceive life after death, it was more likely that they would experience confusion and loss in their transition from one state to another. But in the last decade, as more and more of us have connected with the 'spirit life' of the other side, our evolving beliefs have altered the consciousness of death such that people who pass over can move more naturally into their fullest potential there.

Another shift happened three to four years ago (2003-2004). At that time, I would reach out to touch someone's loved one who'd just transitioned and whoosh, there they'd be in full magnificent form assisting their families and loved ones in taking their next steps for the evolution of Life. The speed of it surprised me at first, but then I realised that it made perfect sense. Every one of these beings had been in life with an amazing person of consciousness who had assisted them in their transition. In other words, they had been seen and worked with as their true, full being prior to going over and zing, the magic happened. They achieved in their lifetime the recognition of their full being and were free to gift us their contribution from 'the other side.'

Just a month ago, I saw this on an even greater level. A friend of mine's daughter had been killed in a motorcycle accident and he was bereft. I reminded him that she was this hugely magnificent being and that she wasn't gone from him at all. In fact, it was more likely that if he could step beyond grief, he'd discover a brand new, amazing, transformative relationship with her for the greater work that he'd been about for over a decade now. He saw that and responded immediately saying he knew that to be true in his sensing of her.

As I worked with her, I realised that all of these beings who had more recently chosen to go over were creating a new energetic field for us to grow into. They were lending the power of their magnificence to our collective evolutionary leap for this planet. One month ago I worked with a woman whose mother was trying to get a message to her, asking for forgiveness, which the daughter then gave. The minute this happened the mother's energy changed from a denser, more oppressive energy to a swirling funnel of light, opening up a doorway for us all to experience the next level of ourselves in collective godness. Wow! These are stunning transitions to behold!

I am now absolutely convinced that there is no such thing as death and that we are sourcing a world that embraces this as a full living reality. We exist eternally in whatever forms we choose. Energy never dies, consciousness is never lost and Life is always available to us for our and its next becoming!

THE EVOLUTION OF EARTH

There are many people today who view the Earth as a poor, downtrodden planet, being abused by the technology and indifference of man. I don't see it that way at all. How dare we think in such a small way about this glorious, amazing being Earth that we are privileged to live on!

The Earth is an enormous being that is playing a HUMUNGOUS role in our evolutionary shift right now. In my bio-mythical story, the spirit of the Earth, as it had always been, left in March 1996, as its sojourn was complete and the next level of Earth ... and humanity ... was ready to be born. A new Earth being awakened from the deep eternal core of the Earth and has grown over the past decade into an amazing, cosmicious, source-full being that is the very centre of the evolutionary movement for this game.

If source, creator, god is looking to evolving him/her/itself, then there's no better being or place than Earth for that to be played out on now. The Earth as I know this being today is magnificent and powerful beyond measure. This being doesn't need our pity or compassion at all. It's holding an amazing potential for us all and it delights in partnering with us as a new race of beings to take the planet, humanity and sourceness / godness / creatorship to brand new levels of mega play.

The living consciousness that I wrote of earlier is in fact centred in and through the living presence of a new Earth that is much, much more than a planet. The Earth is the being through which all the new possibilities are streaming. In my story, the Earth is about to become a star, a new light of possibility for planets, stars, solar systems and Life everywhere. I don't mean that it's going to explode into light. I mean that it's taking its sentiency to new heights and, along with all of us as a new collective race of beings with magical abilities and transformative power, we'll create a possibility of being that has never been before.

We're entering a cosmic era and instead of seeing ourselves as living on a tiny rock, third planet from our sun, we're beginning to see how the Earth can contribute to a vast vista of cosmic array. Already the Hubble telescope is giving us a deep, rich appreciation of Life out there amongst the stars. Instead of perceiving dark and empty outer space, we begin to see the glorious movement of other forces upon the cosmoses. We grow to accept our place in a brand new era as visionaries whose boundaries are unlimited in any way.

In my biggest and wildest vision of us and the Earth, I believe that someday we will have the collective capacity to partner with our cosmic planet to move it out of orbit, in a sustainable environment, and traverse the starry skies. I can only hope that it will be in my lifetime and I'm at work on this as a new and enhanced level of collective working, living and being. I believe that all things are possible when we can collectively connect with the magical, alivening, transformative and miraculous power of Life.

THE GODNESS GAME

A BIO-MYTH FOR THE 21ST CENTURY

For aeons human beings have been in the question of god, source, creator. Is the universe an ordered creation of an all-seeing being or is it the mindless chaos of a big bang and its ensuing disorder? The answer is simple and complex at the same time. Here is my take on it at the present moment of my own evolution. I expect that everyone's view of it will be different based on our unique experiences of it all.

As I've journeyed in consciousness, I've experienced vast beings who would fit our understanding of gods, sources and creators. I believe there are zillions of them, just as there are zillions of us. There are those who sourced this universe and those who seeded human beings upon the world. There are those who wield great powers of creation in cosmoses throughout the multiverses and there are those who wait in the wings to support our journey into quantum evolution now! In every case, as I touch their consciousness, their understanding, their learning and knowing, I grow into that level of an ever new me.

I have not touched, at this point in time, an over-riding consciousness that controls it all and I have my doubts that such a consciousness exists ... although I'm quite willing to concede it both logical and possible. So why do I doubt this? It's because of my evolving relationship to consciousness and to Life.

Consciousness can be both alive and non-living; it thrives beyond the concepts of time, space and form. It morphs itself with every new being it comes into contact with. And yet, there is a part of it that lies dormant in the fields of wonder that we call Life ... dormant in wait for a living presence to call it into being, to take it to the next levels of itself, to create the evolutionary movement that is inherent within every micro bit of its being.

I believe that we are that living presence ... that our job here on planet Earth is to partner with and thereby morph the living consciousness of Life itself into a brand new possibility of god, source, creator being. I suggest that the whole of godness may be taking a leap into its own next possibilities of being and we get to be magnificent mega players in that game.

We are already well underway in this the new godness game, as we've already seen from the evolutionary overviews in this writing! In the past decade, we've taken conscious evolution to a whole new level with the contributions of many and with a creative inventiveness that a liberated collective can express. During this decade, we have

- unlocked the doorways between the worlds and called the magic back into being,
- moved ourselves from three dimensional polarity to omni-dimensional reality creation,
- integrated the aspects of ourselves from all of time to become wholly present, all of ourselves, in the here and now,
- liberated time to discover our ability to be timerich, timefree, timeless and more,
- reached into the deep eternal inner to call forth the Life source energies that bring transformative vitality to Life everywhere,
- discovered our ability to source alivening, super-charged space and

- begun a journey to source the physical world (our own bodies, the planet and the surrounding cosmos) into a brand new level of sentient, conscious, mega being.

We are sourcing an ever-emerging adventure into the legendary creation of our own magnificent becoming. Here we turn our imaginations on full force and enter a fantastical world to discover, with conscious understanding, what's possible when sources, gods and creators everywhere contribute symbiotically to the evolution of sourceness, godness, creatorship and Life. Whew, now there's a bio-myth for the 21st century!

I know that some will think 'What! Human beings evolving the source of sourceness! That's ridiculous. We're too tiny, too impotent to be able to accomplish a job as massive as this one!' Well, they might be right. But in my books, I happen to believe it is possible AND that we will get it done in no time at all. And you know what? All it takes is for one person, or two, or three, or more to believe in something and whoosh, everything rushes to our aid to make it so. And we are willing ... and I mean willing in large numbers of people here on planet Earth to make this happen now.

Yes, we have to drop all beliefs we've ever had about any of this. We have to stop seeing ourselves as tiny human beings and realise the totality of beingness that we have already become and have yet to grow into.

I have experienced this becoming myself many times. I am already not the being I was born as and not yet the full being that I am yet to become. I have witnessed beings of diverse consciousnesses, energies, potentialities and sources come together here in human form for something spectacularly brand new.

We are not just another bunch of human beings living another round of ordinary lives. We are made up of beings from all over the cosmoses (deep inner and vast outer) who have found their way here to live a journey of mythical proportion.

We are creating a new kind of collective godness. In all my journeying in consciousness, I have never seen collective godness. That doesn't mean it doesn't exist. I'm sure it must. But if you look at the mythology of our human past:

- Greek gods ... all individual and warring away with one another.
- Egyptian gods ... well I rest my case.
- The Christian God ... a father figure of questionable behaviour and priorities in my books.

As to others ... Muslim, Buddhist, Tibetan, Mayan and more ... I can't say too much as I haven't studied these in depth, but I do have a deep sense that none of them fulfil for me that which I'm seeking now in the 21st century. Their myths and writings are made up of stories from the past, manipulated by man throughout time and not particularly oriented to the vibrant, dynamic, ultra-creative, magical world that I want to see created for us here and now.

I believe we must all now seek our own experience of sourceness, godness and creatorship and become a liberator of our own beliefs around it all. I believe that Life begs it of us, to liberate from the past, from all sense of what has been before and consider this the most amazing of all times. This journey offers us not just hope and faith for a better future, but the collective, symbiotic, miraculous creation of that which has never been before ... EVER!

If we can step into that liberation of belief, that dance of partnership, that mega field of potentiality, then who knows where we can go together from here. In that regard, I hold two things to be true:

- Everything is possible now if people really hold for it all to be real ... and we are doing that in ever growing numbers.

AND

- We are currently the centre-point of existence for potentiality, for ALL that has ever wanted to be ... and we're willing to evolve into that now.

We are re-inventing ourselves as a new race of symbiotic beings who know how to partner with and source Life in a magnificent, cosmic way. I can't imagine anything more exciting than this to be living for in this wondrous time -- the very beginning of the 21st century on our mega-Earth in this evolving cosmos!
